Information and Privacy Commissioner to release special report about how health authorities manage privacy breaches

VICTORIA—On Wednesday, September 30, 2015, at 9:30 a.m., B.C. Information and Privacy Commissioner Elizabeth Denham will release a special report entitled Examination of British Columbia Health Authority Privacy Breach Management.

The report reviews the privacy breach management policies and practices within eight provincial health authorities. The Commissioner chose health authorities for this report because they collect the most sensitive personal information from British Columbians.

An Examination of British Columbia Health Authority Privacy Breach Management will be available for download at 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday September 30 at <https://www.oipc.bc.ca/report/audit-compliance/>

A news release and backgrounder will be issued summarizing the report.
